Film on Rockies To Be Sponsored By Adventists

"Canadian Rockies," a motion picture filmed and narrated by Stan Midgley, will be shown in the Civic Auditorium on Thursday, Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Tickets can be obtained from any member of the church at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Proceeds will be used to help pay the church debt.

Midgley also will show colored pictures of the 1953 Rose Parade in Pasadena. After a showing of the film at Michigan State College recently, a school spokesman was prompted to say: "Mr. Midgley gave us one of the finest programs that we have ever presented here at Michigan State during the past 10 years. He has a very fine stage presentation as well as movies of top quality. The combination makes an excellent program."

Mosaics By Local Woman To Be Put On Display At SC

Olive Butterfield, of 22539 Dolores St., will have a showing of her all-glass mosaics in the upstairs gallery of Harris Hall at the University of Southern California Feb. 10-26, the SC department of fine arts announced this week.

An opening reception will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 10, to which the public is invited.

Miss Butterfield has received art training only during the past four years. Before that time she was a business woman and a radio writer, and has traveled in 28 foreign countries.

Her first art work was taken at Long Beach Junior College under Prof. Joseph Donat, and she is currently studying at SC with Prof. Ralph Johnstone.

Her work is predominantly non-objective, and ranges in color from subtle to high-powered primary schemes. She also shows several works strictly in black, white and grey values, which are somewhat unique for glass.

Miss Butterfield's mosaics are all glass and range among the best being done in Southern California, in the opinion of Donald Goodall, head of the SC fine arts department. Her work is extremely varied, a remarkable fact when one considers her brief study in the arts, Goodall said.

'Doctors' Ease Aching Back, Take Large Fee

Police were still looking yesterday for two "doctors" who lightened the burden last week for Jack Nielson, 74, of 4171 W. 190th St.

Nielson told police the two men approached him at the yard of his home and identified themselves as doctors. Asking him about his health, they were told by Nielson that his back bothered him.

A prolix examination of the elderly man's back was swiftly conducted and the pair departed.

Nielson told police that his wallet, containing $400 was missing after the pair left.
